

15 Hurst St, Picnic Bay

Huge house on 1813m² corner lot overlooking golf course

If you were looking to buy this land and build this property now, you would easily need to be a millionaire! At approx 450m² of sandstone block construction on concrete slab, with covered patios all round, this is a large home, yet with a central living area, it has a cosy homely feel. The house has been built on the corner block and there's a 1012m² area to the side which offers room for a shed, pool, tennis court....or should be relatively simple to sub-divide and sell (subject to council approval).

The full-length covered front patio looks through the tropical garden to the greens of the golf club and further afield to the island's green boulder-strewn hills. If you're a golfer, this would be paradise for you! The beach is an easy 650m walk, with a selection of cafes, the Picnic Bay pub and jetty, a popular fishing spot.

There's a lock-up garage with direct access into the house and the patio on two sides of the home is enclosed with lattice, allowing the breeze to penetrate whilst providing security so that doors into the house can be left open, again allowing the breeze to flow through. This also creates a lot of options for various uses - currently one area is used a workshop.

The living area is central with a large tiled lounge opening to the kitchen as well as a separate but well-connected dining room and separate TV room or rumpus. The two bedrooms on the western end of the building are very generous in size, opening off the rumpus room and each with doors onto the enclosed patio. All four bedrooms have split system air con with two more in the living area. 3 metre ceilings throughout accentuate the generous spaces.

Off the kitchen is the internal laundry and a third toilet, this area opens both to the lockable patio and directly into the garage. The master bedroom occupies the north-eastern corner of the home with ensuite bathroom containing a shower, toilet and vanity. The fourth bedroom sits between the master and the lounge and is close to the family bathroom with double vanity, shower over the bath and toilet.
